THE TIMES.

A. H. CLEMENT Editor.

WEDNESDAY, AUG. 15, 1906.

If the Times-Dispatch has more to say on the subject of "good roads" it will be preaching without practice. We presume that Mr. Joseph Bryan, who is opposed to better roads will also oppose better public school houses, longer terms and better pay for teachers Yes, Mr. Bryan is a large tax payer of the county of Henrico and should be heard on questions involving the expenditure of county money, but so should the humblest tax-payer of the county, and Mr. Bryan, the one rich man, should not obstruct public improvements which may be demanded by the great body of tax payers.

Where is Col. Watterson "at?" Has he left the Bryan band wagon? and is he not to figure in that New York welcome? We still hope that he will make the speech of the occasion and that it will be our privilege to read it. He has a noble subject and nobly will he handle it. True he will have some things to "take back," but manly men are equal to all such occasions. Conditions at least change and wise men change with them.

There are no Rockefellers or Morgans or Carnegies in France. There are many rich men, but their relative wealth is not nearly so great as that of our multi-millionaires. Nearly all the people are well to do and most of them are prosperous.—Richmond Evening Journal.

It will never be so with us until the G. O. P. has been dethroned. The matter of trusts must be muzzled or multi-millionaires will multiply and paupers become more plentiful.

The times are said to be prosperous and money plentiful, and yet we know of a merchant who does business in a progressive town who sent out his collector into his town with $100 of small accounts for collection. After scouring the town the collector returned with just 22 cents. That merchant had no big P for progress that day.

Yes, let us have the Torrens law, and the regret is that we are forced to wait for the meeting of another legislature, and the trouble then comes in when no "feller" can foretell just what the average legislature will do with any given subject. The difficulty is found in the fact that legislatures are made up of politicians.

Judge Brewer, of the Supreme Court, delivered a notable address before the State Bar Association of Virginia, during its recent session at the Hot Springs, in which he took a strong position against "so much talk of National freedom and so little freedom of the individual." The letter day may be dawning.

Neither the Index-Appeal nor Virginian-Pilot very much admire Senator Tillman, and yet he is the foremost representative from Dixie in Washington, while in South Carolina he is simply "on top." Some folks must find much in him to admire. In our opinion "his faults lead to virtue's side."

The same old story—president and cashier go wrong and $9,000,000 loss to innocent depositors. This would not have happened if directors would only direct. Seven men will not agree to rob a bank or hen roost. But directors wont direct, what then? More shocks.

A body of white folks up in Pittsburg wanted to lynch a negro the other day who had simply told an outrageous and infamous lie. Verily the "problem" deepens and broadens indeed. Dixie people are no longer sinners above all men. "Blood is thicker than water."

When the ill-fated Siri was sinking some one said to a mother with her baby in her arms, "sacrifice the baby and save yourself." She clung to her child and both were saved. It would have been the same thing if both had gone down.

Somebody ought to tell the truth about conditions in Russia. Things can't be as bad as represented when even a "strike" can't grow and spread. And maybe the Czar isn't as scared as the newspaper writers would have us believe.

Secretary Shaw went to "Waterloo" early in the canvass. He may find another at its end.

Old man Depew says he wore himself out with work in the Senate We doubt if he knows the way to his own seat in that august body.

Buckingham.

One of the most enjoyable gatherings that has taken place here this season, was the novel entertainment gotten up by the Ladies' Aid Society. They sent out a number of wee tiny socks and those who received them were invited to attend "The Sock Social" and present the minature foot appeared at the door where the entertainment was held and inside of the sock was to be money, in cents equal to the size of sock or stocking worn by each person, multiplied by three. The society realized a nice sum as door receipts taken this way, and they had provided delightful refreshments which were dispensed free to all present. Everybody present seemed to have a pleasant time the children joyous and frolicsome, the young girls and beaux easily pleased, while there was a smile on many older faces that should be offener there. As for the pretty, young married ladies I'm wont to write about them, they were there and greeting their friends in the same attractive manner, by the way as (Uncle Van would say) I mentioned a certain number of these semi-brides and ladies who look too young and girl like to be called madam, and I complimented them, and don't you know, even they, had some vanity, yes they did and they consulted to know who were the chosen five. Since then this number has been augmented by the arrival of others and I have to reiterate, and go further and say no country paper in Virginia is read by a handsomer and more accomplished set of young married ladies than is to be found at and near this place. Having gone thus far I can do no less than say for the sterner sex that not only are the ladies of this favored set well matched in personal appearance, but in intelligence and in kind-heartedness do they find an equal in the young men whose name they have taken.

The special term of Circuit Court, which ended here last week was strictly a business term and cases civil and criminal were disposed of with a promptness which we hope may mark the proceedings of the court. The case against Watkins was continued to the next regular term of court. This is a charge against a negro for shooting a Mr. Evans at Arvonia. Mr. Strode was engaged in a case from Avon in defence of the rights of the Buckingham State Co. This was a case in which the plaintiffs, Jones & Roberts sought to restrain the defendant company from dumping the debris out of the quarry known as the Dutch Gap quarry on the lands of the plaintiffs, they claiming that this land was rich in slate bearing properties and the Company who operates the Dutch Gap quarry responded that it would be difficult to find land thus to dump the refuse from the quarry on that did not have slate on it. Moon and Hubard represented the plaintiffs. The case was decided in favor of the defendant as far as the Dutch Gap quarry was concerned, but action concerning quarry number two was continued until the next term of court.

Mr. Robt. Rice, of Lynchburg, is visiting at his old home here.

The R. F. D. route from this place to run by Wily, Brierhook and other post offices seems an established fact and Messrs. Eldridge and Gilliam (Robert Jr. and Walton) are the three applicants for the place as carrier.

Wheat is selling for 80 cents and meal for same price. The miller at Slate River mills says he can give 198 pounds of flour for 5½ bushels of wheat. Tobacco and corn crops are looking fine but the tobacco worms have come and farmers backs will find little rest for two weeks.

High School will open on the 2nd Monday in September and the time of opening of the graded schools is to be fixed by the district boards. Mr. Harry C. Turner and Miss A. P. Jones are the teachers elected for the graded school at Dillwyn. The county school board appointed the six clerks of the district boards to negotiate with a committee of the Masons looking to the purchase by the county board of the rights now held by the Masonic lodge in the High School building, and if this is done Maysville District will donate to the county the $1000 it has invested in this property, since the county board has made this a county school. A representative of each school district is expected to be on hand today to appear before the Board of Supervisors and ask for a levy of 5 cents on the $100 to be used for district school purposes, this, if gotten is to be mainly a building fund, and some of the school houses are sadly in need of repair, if they cannot be replaced by new ones.

There was a fine gathering at Elcan church on Sunday at the opening of the week of protracted services and just as Mr. Johnson had dismissed the congregation and they had gone out to get dinner, a heavy cloud came up and the people had to repair to the church building and turn it into a dining room for the time being, and for more than an hour it rained in torrents.

Miss Ruth Swoope was quite sick all last week and fears were entertained that she would have typhoid fever but she was better Saturday.

Sheppards.

It always gives me pleasure to mention the advancement of our Buckingham boys from Sheppards. I enclose clipping from the Y. M. C. A. Messenger complimentary to Mr. G. Robt. Davis, formerly of our town:

G. R. Davis, formerly foreman of the freight house at the R., F. & P. Broad Street Station, has been appointed Assistant Yard Master by his company at Richmond, and given charge at Boulton.

Our Association is especially pleased with this promotion, for Davis is one of our best workers, and was a member of one of our Bible classes last winter, and has been active in all its interests.

It is a very unusual thing to take a man from the freight house and promote him to Yard Master, and this speaks volumes for the young man's character and ability.

The "Old Maids' Club" of Francisco District will give an entertainment at Sheppards to-night. The proceeds to go towards a confederate monument at Buckingham C. H.

Mrs. Maude Horner left Thursday for her home at Rosemary, N. C. She took back with her Misses Annie Jones, Ruth Forbes and Florence Jones.

Miss Alice Atkinson and Mrs. P. H. Elcan are visiting the family of Mr. M. C. Elcan at Sheppards.

Miss Lila Duvall is visiting Miss Hattie Crute.

The Standard Oil Co. have moved their stave mill, but there is already a new saw mill at Sheppards, and we more coming and the folks who predicted, forty years ago, a lumber famine are surprised to see how much good lumber old Buckingham can furnish. The trees are growing faster than the boys—sure!

To an outsider it is amusing to see the farmers storing tobacco to keep up the price, and selling primings to keep down the price Don't they know that every pound of primings taker the place of a pound of leaf? Don't they know that the bottom leaves ought to go back on the land as fertilizer? Don't they know that tenants frequently strip plants nearly to the top to get "primings," because it means a few cents of ready money, not shared with the land lord? The remedy is plain. Stop selling primings, don't allow your tenants to sell any don't let your warehouses sell them, (most of the farmers own their own some warehouse.) Put down the practice of selling primings, and you won't need to store your leaf to get a fair price. I don't blame the buyers, they are business men with good, hard sense. I see where they are right. The laugh is on the farmer, and he knows it. The remedy is in his hands. Will he use it?

Thus the tide will swell and the store of yesterday is the better store of today, and on and on till greater things be accomplished, our facilities to serve you the best possible.
